

Map

Info

About

Ogham in 3D

Mapping the Ogham Stones of the Dingle Peninsula

Find out more

Lorem Ipsum

Add a little Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetur adipiscing elit. Nulla suscipit nunc sem. Sed nisi nibh, pellentesque vel ligula at, tempor pulvinar tortor. Quisque feugiat mi sit amet turpis fermentum, nec convallis ante accumsan. Nulla sed facilisis lectus. Etiam a tristique nunc. Aenean vel nisl nisl. Curabitur sollicitudin tempor quam, eu venenatis urna pulvinar eu. Duis ligula metus, aliquam et pellentesque ac, dapibus pulvinar velit. Integer feugiat non neque vitae efficitur. Integer non sodales elit. Pellentesque in bibendum erat. Suspendisse mollis imperdiet justo, ac fringilla nisi. bit of body text

Baile an Reannaigh (Ballinrannig) III

An Riasc (Reask)

Cill Fhiontain (Kilfountain)

Baile na hUnta (Ballinahunt)

An Baile Riabhach (Ballymorereagh)

An Baile Riabhach (Ballymorereagh)

The present location of this stone is at Coláiste Íde, in Burnham, though its original location is unknown, as it was moved in the 19th century. It stands 1.16m high and is c. 0.34m wide and 0.14m thick. The reading of the full inscription is uncertain and only the following letters survive: ( ) NAVICAS MAQI MUCO(I) ( ) JS.

